LASTING VALUE

There are good reasons why Admiral can offer one of the best warranties in the business. It starts with a product made in the United States by people who care, and extends to specific construction features which ensure your Admiral furniture will retain its appearance and function properly for years to come. Here are just nine of these reasons:

Is Powdercoat the same as paint?

This finish is far superior to ordinary paint, and will resist scratching, chipping and peeling for years to come.

Admiral applies electrostatically-bonded powdercoat, which is then baked at 400 degrees. This melts the powder, allowing it to bond to the frame (which we pre-etch for even better adhesion).

Choose from our selection of 16 colors to complement any locale.

Tubing is tubing... right?

Your furniture's frame is the last place to be cutting corners. Admiral Furniture is constructed of 6063-T6 aluminum alloy tubing, which can be formed into different designs, yet provides for exceptional strength and durability. It's one more reason why our frames carry a 10-year warranty.

How is "relaxed sling" different?

Admiral's new relaxed sling makes replacing slings onsite easier than ever while maintaining the comfort you have come to expect from our sling furniture. The relaxed sling is available in our Classic, Alante and Mandalay collections.

Isn't all vinyl strapping the same?

We only use 100% virgin vinyl strapping at Admiral, which retains its shape year after year – we back it up with a 3-year warranty. On-site strap replacement is easy, thanks to single-wrap attachment and “Christmas tree” plugs – no need for straps to pull out of the frame.

What's a 360° weld?

Our frames aren't just spot-welded — we use full circumference (360 degree) welded construction. As a result, our joints don't crack and break after just a short time in use. In fact, Admiral frames last for years — so long, that we offer an industry-leading 10-year warranty.

How does Sling Fabric hold up?

At Admiral, we start by only using commercial grade sling fabric, and get it from reputable manufacturers.

Then we go the extra distance and use treated fabric with UV and anti-fungal inhibitors. Sling fabric is extremely comfortable, and looks great – plus, it's easy to replace on-property.
